STEP 1: Learn requirements for submitting an application

A complete listing of eligibility criteria and award conditions is available on our website www.fulbright.org.il

STEP 2: Record user ID and password in a safe place

The e-mail address you use to register for the Fulbright Visiting Scholar application is your user ID. When you create your user account for the online application by completing the registration you also create your own password. Keep this information in a safe place. You may log in and out of the online application as frequently as needed. While you cannot change your registered e-mail for the application, if necessary, you can change your password by clicking on 'Update My Account' at the top of the application Home page. Note: When registering, certain information will populate on the Application Form, including name and home mailing address; you will have the opportunity to update as you complete the Application Form.

STEP 3: Complete the online application

You do not need to complete the application in one session. You can re-enter the application anytime and edit it. Please remember to save your work frequently. However, once you submit your application you can no longer make any changes to the application.

General Application Guidelines

- To ensure correct completion of the application, carefully read the detailed instructions provided in these guidelines.
- All items must be in English.
- The entire application must be submitted online. Use 10-point or larger font on all parts of the application.
- Responses to guestions on the application must adhere to established character limits.
- You may not attach additional pages to answer these questions.
- Proofread the entire application before submitting it. The application should be free of grammatical and spelling errors.
- Treat the application as a unitary whole, with all parts reinforcing the project statement. The flow should be orderly: your capabilities should be listed in the application, further documented in the curriculum vitae and confirmed in the references. Use the project statement to make the parts interact by referring to items in the curriculum vitae or research bibliography. Without being redundant or simplistic, you should make it easier for the reviewer to find the key pieces of information you wish to convey.

Completing the Application Form

Please read the instructions carefully before completing each item.

PHYSICAL IMPAIRMENT

35. Physical Impairment

SIGNATURE

• To electronically sign the application form, please type in your first and last name and the date.

The Project Statement

- The project statement is the most important component of the Fulbright application. Scholars with the most compelling, theoretically sound, well-written, feasible proposals are generally recommended for awards. Sometimes those with outstanding professional achievements assume that a brief, general project statement will be sufficient; it is not. To ensure a competitive application, your proposed project, as well as the strategy for completing it, should be thoroughly explained in three to five single-sided pages.
- Submit a detailed project statement of no more than five single-spaced pages with normal sized margins. The font should be in Times New Roman with a 12-font size.

Format

- Do not exceed the character limit of the proposal. Including irrelevant or extraneous material may divert attention from the project statement.
- Begin the project statement with your name, country and the project title at the top of page one. At the top of each subsequent page, type your name and country.
- Organize your proposal in order of the following points, which appear in bold print, and use them as headings for sections of text in your statement.

Guidance

Background: Introduce the research topic. Place the project in academic or professional context by referring to major works by others on the subject.

Objectives: Clearly define the aims of the project.

Methodology: Describe the project. Explain the approach, methods and plan you will use (for example, interviews, library or archival research, or laboratory experiments). Indicate whether the proposed research is quantitative or qualitative.

Significance: Explain the importance of the project for the field, your home country and your own professional development. Indicate what effect you expect the opportunity to have on your teaching or professional work in your home country. (For example: new approaches to curriculum planning, student advising or pedagogy; expanding knowledge in the field through collaboration with U.S. colleagues). Describe briefly the expected impact of your participation on your home institution, community or professional field.

Evaluation and Dissemination: Describe plans for assessment and distribution of research results in your home country and elsewhere.

Justification for Residence in the United States for the Proposed Project: Indicate why it is necessary to conduct the research onsite in the United States.

Duration: Explain how the project can be completed within the time period proposed.

Other: If applicable, indicate the quantity, format and transportation requirements for any botanical, zoological or mineral samples that you will need to bring to the United States for analysis.

Additional Content Guidance

In addition to following the format carefully, the following advice has been passed on from former Fulbright Scholars and review committees that may assist you in preparing a more competitive and ultimately successful Fulbright application.

- Submit a clear and complete project statement that introduces you professionally to your colleagues in the United States. The best applications are those that reflect the applicant's purpose and intent.
- Make sure that your qualifications and expertise match the objectives in your project statement. You should be able to show that you are qualified to accomplish what you are proposing to do.
- Emphasize how your project will benefit the host institution or other scholars in your field both in your country and in the United States. Address in your project statement the ways in which you will use the experience upon your return. What is the likely impact of your experience abroad?
 How will you use what you learned upon your return, professionally and personally?
- Connect your past experience to what you are preparing to do if you receive an award. Explain the project's significance and its importance to the field. Focus on what can be reasonably accomplished during the period of the grant.
- Do not assume that your suitability for the project is self-evident. Your standing in your field may not be well known to reviewers. You need to make a case for yourself based on your past experience and current scholarly endeavors. Explain the significance of your project in language that will be understood by reviewers from outside your field.

- Do not stress only how a Fulbright grant will benefit you or your career. Remember that the program is intended to foster mutual understanding between cultures and nations.
- Be specific in describing your previous work and in laying out the nature of your proposed Fulbright activity. A frequent failing in applications is that the proposal is underdeveloped or too imprecise to give reviewers a clear sense of the endeavor.

Style Recommendations

- Express what you can bring to the program clearly and succinctly. Think of the basic questions that need to be answered: Why should I apply for a Fulbright award to come to the United States? If selected, what will I do and how will I do it? What preparations have I made to complete the project? What can I contribute to the Fulbright Program? What will the results of my participation be? Include only the most pertinent information in forming your responses so as not to exceed the page restrictions. At the same time, you should avoid writing a proposal so brief that it will be difficult for the reviewer to understand the project.
- Emphasize key points in the first paragraph of the proposal. Reviewers examine many Fulbright applications, and having to search for the main points of the proposed activity is not helpful. You should use the rest of the proposal to support your statements in the opening paragraphs.
- Pay attention to style in your proposal. You may want to use the first person, but you should avoid flooding your proposal with "I's" or referring to yourself in the third person.
- Keep your proposal simple and straightforward so that an educated reader from another discipline can understand it.

Bibliography

• For research proposals, provide a list of no more than three pages of references relevant to the proposed research.

The Curriculum Vitae

The curriculum vitae describes academic credentials and demonstrates a record of scholarly achievements (document should not exceed six pages). When composing the curriculum vitae, it is important to include:

- Education (universities attended, degrees earned and dates received. Please mention the full name of your PHD supervisor
- Professional positions held
- Courses taught and other services provided to students and the home institution
- Publications (provide full citations and list them starting with the most recent)
- Other professional activities, such as workshops, seminars and consultations
- Membership and activities in professional associations
- Professional honors, awards and fellowships
- Community service

The application asks for similar information, but provides limited space for answers. In the curriculum vitae, you should expand upon these topics to present more completely your accomplishments.

Supplemental Materials

- Letters of invitation should be typed on institutional letterhead and signed. Scanned copies should be attached to the online application only if final arrangements have been concluded. The letter should contain brief details of the applicant's project, beginning and end dates of the Fulbright project and any financial support which will be provided to the applicant. Invitations do not ensure selection for an award.
- Letters of invitation sent after the deadline will not be reviewed by the selection committee.

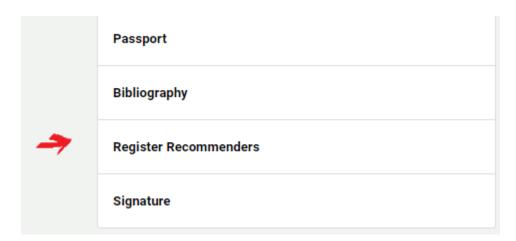

Passport Copy/ies

Copy of passport bio-data page must include the barcode (passport used for grant travel must be valid for at least until the end of the Fulbright grant period).

Previous J-1 or J-2 (DS2019) forms, if applicable

Letter of support from home institution is not required.

Reference Letters

Candid, frank reference reports or letters of reference help reviewers place your research within your home institution's current conditions and plans for growth. References also provide evidence of your reputation within your discipline. The Reference Report Form in the application packet suggests qualifications that your referees should address.

- You must submit three letters of reference. Do not submit more than three references. When you register and enter details of your referees, they will each be sent instructions via email by the Embark system for how to submit their online reference for you. However, the email they receive will not indicate the deadline for submitting their reference letter. Inform your referees that they are expected to submit their Letters of Reference by the deadline date.
- All references should be written in English and typed on institutional letterhead and signed.
- One reference must be written by your doctoral advisor.
- Please also note that as the emails are sent by the online system itself, the message may be caught by spam/junk email filters, so please inform your referees that they should look for their email a few minutes after you register their details.
- You will be sent an email notification when each of your referees submits their reference. You may also log in to your Embark application account and monitor the status of your references by clicking the "References" button on the left-hand side of the page.

- Provide your referees a copy of your project statement if you think this will be helpful.
- References should be from people qualified to evaluate your professional work; the abilities you bring to the proposed project; your ability to adapt to another country and culture; and the merits of the project itself.
- Choose your referees carefully and contact them early. The letters of recommendation need to accompany the application as it could otherwise be weakened by an insufficient number of references.
- Do not ask someone for a letter of reference unless the person is well acquainted with your qualifications. A pro forma letter from a well-known scholar, a contact abroad or a prominent government official will carry less weight than a realistic assessment of your abilities from someone who knows you and your work well.
- Reference letters should be submitted through the online application system. There is no option to send letters via email.
- It is your responsibility to ensure that reference letters are submitted by the deadline date. Please check often the status of your letters on Embark.

Additional documentation is not required at this time.
