

Postdoctoral Fellowship Opportunity at the Weizmann institute of Science

Position: Postdoctoral Researcher
Location: Weizmann institute of Science, Rehovot
(30min by train from Tel Aviv), Israel
Division: Department of Organic Chemistry

Dr. Samer Gnaim
Department of Chemical and Biological Physics

About the Lab:

We are an enthusiastic and motivated organic chemistry research group at Weizmann Institute of Science, situated at the interface of reaction discovery, electrosynthesis, and catalysis. We are interested in addressing unsolved challenges in organic synthesis to expand the retrosynthetic analysis in synthetic chemistry through innovative study of under-explored chemical functionalities. This research would allow the creation of next generation of drug molecules, agrochemicals, and materials.

Why Join Us?

We offer a dynamic, supportive, and collaborative research environment that brings together Israeli and international scientists. You will receive extensive and unique training in organic synthesis and electrochemistry, coupled with broad-ranging collaboration with industry partners to apply and advance the newly acquired knowledge effectively. The Weizmann Institute is not just a top research institute in Israel but also a global leader in scientific innovation. Renowned for its groundbreaking discoveries, the institute boasts unparalleled research facilities and funding, making it the ideal place for cutting-edge research.

Ideal Candidates:

We are looking for highly motivated and fearless individuals with a strong background in chemistry. They should possess excellent problem-solving skills, a keen interest in interdisciplinary research, and the ability to work both independently and collaboratively.

Application Process: If you are interested, please reach out to Dr. Samer Gnaim via email at samer.gnaim@weizmann.ac.il. Feel free to share this opportunity with anyone who might be interested.
